Policy Statement

The Searcher Seismic Pty Ltd management team acknowledges its duty of care to provide all employees, contractors and project partners with a safe and healthy work environment

The Director and Senior Management are committed to:

- Providing a place of work that proactively protects its personnel from harm, injury, illness or abuse.
- Establishing measurable OHS objectives and targets to ensure our continued improvement is aimed at elimination of work-related injury and illness.
- Implementing, communicating and maintaining an Integrated Quality, Health, Safety & Environmental management system that is clear, concise and easily understood.
- Providing our personnel with professional OHS development and training.
- Reviewing our OHS policies and systems on a regular basis to ensure they align with any legislative or company structure changes and industry best practice.

All Searcher Seismic management, employees and contractors are required to work within the Occupational Safety and Health Regulations (1996), the guidelines of the company's documented Integrated Management System (IMS) and must take all reasonable care for their own safety and health and that of those directly affected by their actions.
